Deepak Sharma is an associate professor in the Department of Mechanical Engineering, Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Guwahati, India. He was a visiting faculty at Industrial System Engineering, Asian Institute of Technology (AIT), Bangkok, Thailand for a semester in 2015. He obtained his Ph.D. and M.Tech. degrees from the Department of Mechanical Engineering, Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Kanpur, India. He has worked with many international research teams at Department of Business Technology, Helsinki School of Economics, Finland; Department of Computer Science, Univesité de Strasbourg, France; Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering, National University of Singapore (NUS), Singapore, and Department of Computer Science and Information Technology, Karlsruhe Institute of Technology (KIT), Germany. He was awarded for NVIDIA Innovation Award in 21st IEEE International Conference of High-Performance Computing in 2014, DAAD's Research Stays fellowship for summer 2013, best student paper awards in IEEE Congress on Evolutionary Computation (CEC) conferences in 2007 and 2008. He has been constantly involved in many sponsored and consultancy projects from SERB, DST, Ministry of Heavy Industries and Public Enterprises, and IIT Guwahati. He is regularly organizing management development programs (MDP) for executes and managers of center and state-level public sector organizations on (1) Production Planning, Inventory Control and Supply Chain Management, (2) Project Management, (3) Inventory and Supply Chain Management, (4) Marketing Management, (5) Artificial Intelligence and Its Implementation in Indian Context. He has published more than 50 research papers as journal articles, book chapters and conference articles of high repute. His research interests include optimization and soft computing techniques for intelligent design and manufacturing.